Little Traverse Bay is celebrated for its beauty; and the terraced grades of the town give to all its homes views of the water with its animated pictures of wave and cloud, pleasure craft and shipping. The fishing is excellent; there is a fleet of sailboats; and carriage roads and bicycle paths thread the pine woods and skirt the shore. Bay View takes its name from its situation on a succession of terraces rising one back of another from the shore, and giving the hundreds of cottages which make up the town an outlook over the bay, and the benefit of the cool breezes which temper the summer s heat. The resort is the property of the Michigan Camp Ground Association of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The annual camp meeting of the Association is held here in July and August. Prompted and guided by a purpose to make the weeks spent at a summer resort something more than a period of idleness, or profitless activity in playing games, Bay View has developed a series of institutions which make for higher culture. The Bay View Summer University has an academical department and a school of methods designed to provide teachers with all the advantages of a normal school. The Bay View Assembly has its lecturers and entertainments for which it calls upon the best talent of the country. The Bay View Reading Circle follows systematic courses of reading and study; it has State and local...
